Updated 19 August 2015
Copyright
The Citadel Archives and Museum reserves the right to refuse to accept the copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of the copyright law.

Clearance of any copyright that may exist on a visual image, particularly for commercial purposes or publication, is the responsibility of the user. The Citadel Archives and Museum does not have special records of current ownership of copyright, in particular, for photographs. Users are responsible for determining what rights may exist and in whom those rights are vested. Failure to honor existing restriction on use can result in liability for copyright infringement.

Physical Condition
Decisions will take into account the type and condition of the binding, the brittleness of the paper, the size and general fragility of the item. The choice to photocopy is the decision of the staff member.

Credit Line and Citation
Credit shall be given as follows: The Citadel Archives and Museum, Charleston, South Carolina

Copy Required
The Citadel Archives and Museum requests a copy of all publications for which permission to publish has been granted.

Indemnity
This form must be signed at the time the order has been placed; in so signing, the user indicates an understanding of/and agreement with the conditions outlined:

1. The user assumes full responsibility for any infringement of copyright and publication rights of reproduced materials.
2. Reproductions may not be further duplicated for sale or for subsequent use without specific agreement and the payment of any applicable fees.
3. The applicant agrees to indemnify and hold harmless The Citadel Archives and Museum, its employees and volunteers for all claims and damages (including all legal fees and disbursements and other professional fees) howsoever arising, directly or indirectly, under the agreement.

I acknowledge that I have read and agree to abide by said conditions.
